

Go Fishing at Dale Hollow Lake State Resort Park

A fishing trip to Dale Hollow Lake State Resort Park will place you at one of the best smallmouth and spotted (Kentucky) bass lakes in the Southeast. Good fishing is also the norm for largemouth bass, crappie, bluegill, and walleye at Dale Hollow Lake. A boat ramp and marina are at the park to accommodate boat anglers. The Wolf River arm of the lake in Tennessee is also open to fishing with a Kentucky fishing license above the reciprocal zone boundary as shown on the map.

Fish for trout at the Cumberland River in the Burkesville area, which is less than a 15-mile drive from Dale Hollow Lake State Resort Park. A fishing walkway and boat ramp are located above Hwy 90 Bridge in Burkesville. A second boat ramp is 4 miles downstream, just below the Hwy 61 Bridge.

Lake Cumberland Dam is only 20 miles from the park. While there, you can fish below the dam for trout in Cumberland River. There is a boat ramp below the dam and bank access is available along the river and at the hatchery creek below Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery. This stream is stocked with trout each week from February through December.

Dale Hollow Lake State Resort Park is the second largest state park in Kentucky. Most of the 3,398 acres in the park are forested and surrounded on three sides by the lake. Anglers can plan an overnight stay at Mary Ray Oaken Lodge that overlooks the lake or the park's campground.
